TODAY'S BIRTHDAY SKETCH.

Congressman Edwin F. Sweet, Fifth district of Michigan, was born in Danville, N. Y., November 21, 1847, and is therefore 64 years old today. He is a graduate of Yale university, 1871, with the degree of A. B., and from the law department of the University of Michigan.

Among the most important political positions which have been held by Mr. Sweet is that of mayor of the city of Grand Rapids, Mich., from 1904 to 1906. In 1876 he married Miss Sophia Fuller. He is serving his first term in congress, having been elected over Hon. Gerrit J. Dikema, republican, by a majority of 629.

YOUNG MEN'S DINNER TALK

It Was Mostly Devoted To Campaign Issues

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES

They Told Their Fellow Club Members Why They Were in Politics, But Heroically Refrained From Asking For Votes

At the Ford Hotel last night the Young Men's Phoenix club gave one of its popular-priced dinners, this time with the object in view of hearing the candidates on the Republican ticket discuss the broader issues in the political world. The meeting was one of the biggest successes in the career of the club.

The dinner was seven courses long with an interval arranged between each course for the program and the speeches.

The guests of the club for the evening were Hon. Ralph H. Cameron, Hon. A. Smith, John S. Williams and the speeches of these gentlemen were of a character which covered in scope every subject from the tariff on wool and cattle to the acquiring from Mexico of a strip of land from the Arizona border to the Gulf of California, and giving Arizona one of the finest sea ports in the United States, if not on the Western Hemisphere.

Members DePass, Jones, Marks, Curtis and Ensign, who are candidates on the Republican ticket, were then called on by their fellow members and furnished amusement for the club the balance of the dinner in their endeavors to make a good run for office without soliciting votes at the table, as it were, but by agreeing to wait until they got outside the hotel before making the more touching arguments.

The musical program was the best enjoyed by the club, with the orchestral music in the able hands of the Y. M. C. A. Orchestra of seven pieces which acquitted itself with its usual happy manner. The piano solo by Miss Bernice Horrell of the Arizona School of Music, and the solo and encores rendered by Mrs. Francis R. Redewill, were also immensely enjoyed by the club and their guests. Mrs. Redewill sang an Irish ditty which was well received and both ladies were unanimously invited to favor the club again at its proposed Democratic dinner which is to be given within the next ten days on a date that will be convenient to the Democratic candidates. Both ladies were recipients from the club of bouquets of carnations and a vote of thanks.

No business of the club's was intended to come before either of its political dinners, two dinners being arranged solely with the idea in view of hearing the candidates on both tickets, but it was found necessary to remark that the program committee had had some difficulty in getting the candidates on the democratic ticket to a dinner on account of their itinerary of speaking dates. The members decided to hold the date of the next dinner open until such time as would be the most convenient for the democrats, when a dinner and program would be arranged, all with the idea in view of keeping the club squarely and fairly out of politics, but still permitting it to exercise its prerogative as a forum for the discussion of the live issues of the day in politics, civic improvement, sanitation and the other topics which have held the boards of the club in the past and have come up for discussion from time to time in its meetings.

In the absence of the president, Dr. E. S. Godfrey, who is away on a wedding trip to Mexico at the present time, the past grand president of the club, Leroy Civile, presided at the dinner as toastmaster.

THIS OUGHT TO HELP A LITTLE BIT, ANYHOW

Judge Gives Kansas Tar Party Bumpkin's a Year to Think Over Their Cruelty.

LINCOLN CENTER, Nov. 24.—Two defendants in the "Tar party" case, John Schmidt and Sherrill Clark, late today were found guilty of assault and battery by a jury in Judge Grover's court that had been deliberating continuously since 11:30 Thursday morning. A. N. Simms, the third defendant was acquitted. Sentence on the two was deferred to permit their attorneys to argue a motion for a new trial. Earlier in the day sentence of one year each in the county jail, the extreme penalty in Kansas for the offense charged was passed on Everett G. Clark, Jay Fitzwater, Watson Seranton and Edward Ricard confessed assailants of Mary Chamberlain. These defendants were accused of the same crime as the other men. In addition the court rules the men must pay the costs of prosecution. Mary Chamberlain was not present today.

ISAAC LAURIN DIED AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Funeral Will Be Held Monday Morning at 10 O'Clock

Isaac Laurin died yesterday afternoon at 3:20 o'clock at his home in this city, after a long illness. The funeral will be held Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock, in the parlors of Merriman & Hayt.

Isaac Laurin was born Sept. 9, 1847, in Montreal, Canada. He came to the United States at the age of 21, going first to Nevada where he engaged in mining and prospecting. In 1876 he came to Arizona and later located the American Flag and Southern Belle mines. Selling these properties he went into the cattle business in the Santa Catalina mountains.

Closing out his cattle business in 1886, Mr. Laurin came to Phoenix where he invested his savings in realty. The previous year however he had married Miss Pauline Tucker who survives him. Among other relatives in the old Canadian home, deceased leaves an aged mother to mourn him.

For a number of years past Mr. Laurin has been a partial invalid the result of a stroke of paralysis. Though he has not been robust, he has until recently been able to be around and engage in light work. Mr. Laurin has lived the life of a useful and exemplary citizen and was highly respected by all who knew him.

LAW FINALLY IS AVENGED

ing on of the current, he moved but once. He squeezed himself back as though to seek a more comfortable position. At the same time he raised his head, now almost completely hidden in the leather helmet. The next second the shock came.

When the law was avenged and the witnesses gone, the body was removed to the mortuary room adjoining the death chamber. There it lay four hours, until the undertaker authorized by the Beattie family to prepare it for burial. Later it was taken to the Beattie home. Tonight the Beattie family are alone with their grief. Acknowledgment of the crime was nowhere received with more joy than at the executive mansion.

Governor Mann worried himself into a state bordering on nervous breakdown through entertaining fear that he might be permitting an innocent man to go to his death. The same deep satisfaction is shared by the jurors who convicted Beattie, the attorneys who prosecuted him, and the witnesses whose evidence sent him to the chair.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 24.—The crime for which Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., was executed today was one of the most sensational in the criminal history of Virginia. Interest in the murder was country-wide owing to its unusual features and the swift movement of justice.

On the night of July 18, last, Beattie drove his automobile into Richmond, carrying with him the body of his wife which had a gaping shot gun wound in the head. He declared that a tall, bearded man had accosted him on the Midlothian turnpike, five miles from Richmond, and when he had requested the man to make room for him in the road the stranger without warning had fired the shot which killed Mrs. Beattie. He added that he had grappled with the man but was overpowered and that the murderer had fled leaving the gun behind. This story of the crime was maintained by Beattie to the end.

For a brief time Beattie's story was given some degree of credence, but within a day or two suspicion began to point to him and he was kept under the closest surveillance. Bloodhounds, taken to the scene of the crime, refused to leave the place, circling around the bloodspots on the road.

Beattie eventually transpired had thrown the shotgun into the tonneau of his automobile after the shooting but in passing over some railroad tracks not far from the scene it had been jolted out and was picked up later by a negro. This gun, which Beattie alleged had belonged to the mysterious highwayman, proved the means of sending the young man to the electric chair.

At the coroner's inquest the weapon was identified by Paul Beattie, a second cousin of young Henry, as the weapon he had purchased for Henry with money furnished by the latter. Beattie was arrested immediately after the inquest.

The inquest was on July 21, and on August 19, one month and a day from the time of the murder, the trial was begun before Judge Walter A. Watson, in the picturesque little Chesterfield county courthouse, sixteen miles from here.

The jury was made up almost entirely of farmers, and on this fact Beattie based his claim that he had been convicted, not for the murder of his wife, but because of his relations with Beulah Binford, a notorious young woman. He insisted to the last that a jury composed of city men would have freed him. Beattie was defended by H. M. Smith, Jr., and Hill Carter. The prosecution was conducted by L. O. Wendenburg and L. M. Gregory.

The trial moved swiftly, though many witnesses testified, and on September 8, after 58 minutes of consideration and prayer the jury, in chorus instead of through its foreman, declared Beattie to be guilty of the murder of his wife. Motion for a new trial was denied and November 24 set as the day for the execution.

On November 13 the Virginia supreme court of appeals refused to grant an appeal on a writ of error, and two days later Governor Mann, who had been appealed to for commutation or reprieve, issued a statement declaring that the interests of the people of Virginia demanded that Beattie should die in the electric chair.

ONE-SEVENTH OF MANKIND GOES TO MECCA

Although one of the most inaccessible cities on earth, Mecca each year has visitors in such numbers that it must be ranked in this particular with London and New York. Even the world's metropolis on the Thames can boast no such cosmopolitan character as is imparted to this mysterious city in the wilderness of Arabia by the myriads of pilgrims who, at the cost of incredible pains, annually crowd into its confines.

This city is the oldest place of resort in existence, yet of all the millions who have visited it, not a score of Christians are known to have come out alive. No flag of citizenship would save a man's life were he known to be a Christian within the sacred precincts of the city, where the Prophet himself decreed that no unbeliever should set foot.

Of the 225,000,000 Moslems in the world, only 15,000,000 live under the Turkish flag, yet most of them acknowledge the sultan of Turkey as their caliph, the successor of the Prophet. As Mohammed shrewdly foresaw, the Mecca pilgrimage binds together his disciples into a unity which could be effected in no other way.

"Mecca," says Dr. Samuel M. Zwemer of Arabia, "has become the religious capital and the center of universal pilgrimage for one-seventh of the human race."

It Never Flickers

The long winter evenings give a woman a splendid chance for sewing or embroidery; but her eyes suffer from the strain unless she has a good light.

The Rayo is the best lamp made.

It gives a strong, diffused light that is remarkably easy to the eyes. There is no glare to it; no flicker. It lights up a whole room.

The Rayo is an economical lamp, too.

You get the most possible light-value for the oil burned; and the Rayo itself is a low-priced lamp. Yet it is a handsome lamp—an ornament to any room in the house. The Rayo Lamp is easily lighted without removing shade or chimney; easy to clean and rewick. Made of solid brass, nickel-plated; also in numerous other styles and finishes.

Ask your dealer to show you his line of Rayo lamps; or write for descriptive circular to any agency of the
